

CLSA Securities Korea Ltd

DMA Service Terms and Conditions

Article 1 (Objective)

This DMA Service Terms and Conditions (“the DMA T&C”) is designed to clearly define the rights and obligations of a client which intends to use DMA services with CLSA Securities Korea Ltd (“the Company”/ “a Company”/ “CLSA Securities Korea Ltd”) and prescribes terms and conditions governing the Direct Market Access (“DMA”) services provided by CLSA Securities Korea Ltd.

Article 2 (Definition)

- ① The terms used in this DMA T&C are defined as follows:
1. “DMA” refers to the order deliver method used by a client to deliver its orders directly to the securities markets and the derivatives markets (collectively, “Financial Investment Product Market”) opened by the Korea Exchange (hereinafter called “the Exchange”) under the Financial Investment Services and Capital Markets Act via their Order Management System (“OMS”). The Financial Investment Product Market includes transactions over multilateral trading facilities (“MTF”) For the avoidance of doubt, DMA does not include Home Trading System (“HTS”), which refers to the arrangement that a client uses the order management system (HTS) provided to the client by a financial investment company which in turn provides the client with all trade-related necessary services including the delivery and execution of orders, inquiry of settlement and account information, transfer of funds and provision of market information and news.
 2. A “DMA Order” refers to a new, correction or cancellation order to buy or sell which is directly placed by a client to the Financial Investment Product Market via DMA.
 3. “DMA Service” refers to a non-face-to-face order delivery service by way of DMA provided by the Company itself or through third party electronic equipment and devices including software, hardware and communications devices.
 4. A “Client” refers to a person or a party who/which use the Company’s DMA Service.
- ② Where a term is not defined in this DMA T&C, it shall have the same meaning as given in the following statutes or regulations of Korea: the Electronic Financial Transactions Act and its Enforcement Decree, the Financial Investment Services and Capital Markets Act and its Enforcement Decree and Enforcement Rules, the Regulations on the Supervision of Electronic Financial Transactions and its Detailed Enforcement Rules, the Regulations on the Supervision of Financial Investment Business and its Detailed Enforcement Rules and the relevant regulations of the Exchange and MTFs (hereinafter collective called “Relevant Laws and Regulations”).

Article 3 (Acceptance of Orders)

- ① A DMA Order under this DMA T&C placed by a Client via the Company's DMA Service shall be deemed as accepted when delivered via electronic communications means, unless the Company refuses the acceptance of the DMA Order.
- ② The Company may refuse the acceptance of a Client's DMA order if:
 1. The Client fails to comply with the DMA T&C or other agreements with the Company;
 2. The Client accesses or uses the Company's or a third party's trading systems in violation of the Relevant Laws and Regulations;
 3. Networks, communications, computer systems, or facilities, trading systems or software programs associated or connected to the foregoing has failed, discontinued or delayed in part or in full;
